
looking for partners to help code a bot!

Posted by sanitybot - 2008/09/03 14:07

looks like I'm the first person here which is a bit weird, dunno if this is a serious site or not but will check back and see if anyone else joins.

I'm looking to try and write a bot based on the open holdem code. If anyone is interested in getting involved then let me know by posting here, I've subscribed so should get a mail if you do!

Are you still looking for people to join in the development process? I have beginner to intermediate software design experience. I am looking to help out as a pet project.

Regards,
Jason
